Hey there Beloved Being!

As a spiritual teacher, guide and energy worker, my purpose is to help you KNOW yourself, HEAL yourself, MASTER your mind and AWAKEN into higher consciousness. It is my pleasure to assist you as you become the creator of your life and follow your own path of spiritual evolution.

I am looking forward to working with you and supporting you on your journey! Before we have our first session, I wanted to briefly share how I ended up in this role and make sure that it's clear how I practice.

Since childhood I experienced unexplained pain, dysfunction, asthma, sensitivities and allergies to many things, extreme fatigue and sensory processing issues. I grew up in a restrictive and traumatic, fear-based religious environment and was verbally and physically bullied at school. I was depressed, angry and suicidal as a teenager and developed debilitating anxiety as well. These physical, mental and emotional issues worsened over time and carried into my adult life.

I sought help in the traditional mental and medical health care system...but after years of so many tests and procedures to get answers, visits to the ER, being hospitalized a number of times, and taking medication, nothing was giving me lasting results. I was a miserable and angry person feeling overwhelmed and hopeless. Eventually, I stepped outside of that model of health care and found my own way to healing, emotional wellness and spiritual freedom.

Over the course of more than a decade, I dove into research and practice of alternative and natural healing methods, learning about so many things that we aren't generally taught in grade school or even university. I used many of the things I learned on myself and found a great deal of healing...but eventually hit a wall and stopped progressing. This caused me to seek even deeper.

I have been gifted since a very young age with the ability to channel, read and use energy as a tool for wisdom and healing. However, my religious upbringing caused a lot of fear surrounding these natural abilities that kept me from using them in a more expansive and helpful way. It was after I hit that wall that I began to explore my gifts and the possibilities around movement of energy in an intuitive way to facilitate healing and awakening. This exploration opened me up to such depths of physical, emotional and spiritual healing in a way that I never dreamed existed!

As I stepped more fully into my calling, people around me began to notice the changes in my body and life and started to ask for help themselves.

So, I said yes!

As I serve those who seek help in many different ways, I desire to present myself and my offerings in the highest way I know. What you'll find below are the things I feel are the most important to me when working with others.

- Whether it is spiritual guidance/teaching, somatic or energy work, meditation, sound healing or channeling, what I offer comes from a state of heart centered, intuitive wisdom and knowing.
- It is my intention to serve with non-judgement and acceptance of all those who come to me.
- I honor the free-will of each individual and everyone's path no matter where they are at.
- We are unique spiritual beings experiencing through physical human form with a mind which is a tool to be used wisely. When we bring all three aspects of ourselves together in coherence, healing and spiritual evolution are natural.

May you uncover the truth of who you are and unleash the limitless potential in the realm of possibility!
